3. Overview of the First Quarter Ended June 30, 2005

Despite a harsh operating environment in Japan, consolidated net sales in Japan were ¥32.6 billion as a result of inventory adjustments and increased demand for hydraulic excavators for use in post-disaster repairs.

In the Americas, brisk housing investment and highway repair and other construction kept demand strong for construction machinery to produce net sales of ¥27,403 million. In Europe, Africa and the Middle East, net sales were ¥28,925 million on the back of demand exceeding forecasts and activities undertaken to broaden independent sales networks. In Oceania and Asia, brisk demand for mining and construction machinery resulted in net sales of ¥22,661 million. In China, demand for hydraulic excavators bottomed out at the beginning of last autumn. Outside the high-demand area of eastern China, demand is strong for construction machinery for use in such public works as infrastructure development. However, demand for hydraulic excavators decreased 55% between January and March owing to waning investment-oriented construction in eastern China, to produce net sales of ¥11,773 million.

Consequently, consolidated net sales for the first quarter increased 11% to ¥123,362 million; operating income jumped 36% to ¥11,504 million; ordinary income increased 33% to ¥8,976 million; and net income declined 18% to ¥2,944 million owing to tax effect accounting.

As of the first quarter, TCM Corporation has been changed from an equity-method affiliate to a consolidated subsidiary and is included in the scope of consolidation in the same manner as TCM's consolidated subsidiaries and equity-method affiliates. TCM's inclusion raised total assets by ¥57.6 billion. Additionally, earnings of TCM Corporation continue to be recorded on the consolidated income statement as equity in earnings (losses) of affiliates.

4. Projected consolidated results for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2006

	Net sales	Ordinary income	Net income
September 2005 (Interim)	Millions of yen 252.000	Millions of yen 16,300	Millions of yen 7,200
September 2003 (Internit)	232,000	10,300	7,200
March 2006	530,000	36,300	18,700

Supplementary information: Projected net income per share for the fiscal year: ¥95.95

There have been no revisions to the above projections as announced on April 27, 2005.

Note: The above projections are based on information available as of the time of this announcement, and fully reflect the impact of TCM Corporation's conversion to a wholly owned subsidiary. Actual results may differ due to various factors.

Demand is expected to be brisk in Japan, the Americas, Europe, Africa and the Middle East, as well as Oceania and Asia, and fuel sales growth in mining products. Infrastructure development is projected to remain strong in areas outside eastern China and indications of a partial rebound in demand in eastern China can already be seen. Accordingly, demand in China is forecast to rise 30% between April and December. For the current fiscal year, a favorable performance is forecast for net sales, ordinary income and net income.
